Focus Group Discussion 1

- Researcher : Hi, good morning.
Participants : Good morning Ms.
Class teacher : Friends, this is Ms. Devi. She is our guest today. The purpose of her coming is to discuss something with you all, just like what I informed you yesterday. I will stay here to accompany her. So, please listen to her and if it is possible, please answer all the questions given by her. Do you understand friends?
Participants : Yes Mr.
Researcher : Okay friends, before we start our discussion today. I will introduce myself first. My name is Devi and you can call me Ms. Devi. Just for your information, as you can see from my uniform and name tag, I am teaching here, in the building A. Hmm, thank you so much for allowing me to have discussion with you all. Let's start it. Are you ready friends?
Participant : Yes Ms.
Researcher : We all know that in English lesson, you are taught by native and non-native teachers, right? Hmm, wait. Do you know who native and non-native teacher are?
Participant A : What do you mean? Who are they?
Participant B : Yeah, I never heard about it before.
Participant C : Why is the question so weird?
Class teacher : Friends, listen to me. Everyone please do not make noise. Keep quiet. If you want to answer the question given by Ms. Devi, please raise your hand. Do not speak or talk together all of sudden like that. It makes Ms. Devi confused. Got it?
Participants : Yes Mr.
Researcher : Okay, look at these picture. Ms. Devi has two kind of pictures. They are on my right and left

- hand side. Have a look to the picture on my right hand side? Can you mention who they are?
- Participant C : Mr. A
- Participant D : She is Ms. C
- Participant F : Mr. C, Mr. B and Ms. A
- Researcher : Good. What about this one? Who are they on my left hand side?
- Participants : Mr. X, Mr. Y, and Ms. Z
- Researcher : Alright then. Who are your English teachers?
- Participant F : Mr. A and Ms. Z
- Researcher : Let's talk about Ms. Z first. You have been taught by her for a long time, right? I now want to ask you. What do you think about her?
- Participant B : Hmm wait, what do you mean?
- Participant C : Yeah, I do not get it.
- Researcher : Okay let me make the question simpler than before. Hmm, what aspect do you like and dislike when you are taught by her? Tell me anything about her. You can tell me your experience, your good and bad time with her. Tell me anything. Does it make sense to you?
- Participant A : Ah I see, it is easy. What I like from Ms. Z is she is so creative. She can make an interesting game by using simple tools.
- Researcher : A game? What kind of game do you mean? Can you explain me more about it?
- Participant A : Do you still remember friends? We ever play snake and ladder game.
- Participant C : Yeah I remember it clearly. The game is really nice.
- Participant D : What game do you mean? I cannot remember it at all.
- Participant A : Perhaps, you are absent at that time. The game is made from a big cartoon and colorful origami papers. There is a big dice as well. There is a question in each numbers. We have

- to answer the question given. Then, we are gonna get punishment if we can't answer the question. The game is really enjoyable.
- Participant F : I totally agree. The game is really enjoyable. Also, we get punishment if we cannot answer the questions given. Do you remember?
- Researcher : Oh really? What punishment did you get at that time?
- Participant F : Participant A and I are in a group at that time. Then, we lose because we often cannot answer the questions given. If I am not mistaken, our punishment are dancing and singing in front of our classmates. Yet, we do not do all the punishments because we can choose it only one.
- Researcher : Wow you all seem to love her way of teaching so much. What about the others? Is there any good or bad experience with her?
- Class teacher : Come on friends, just share your experience with Ms.
- Participant E : Hmm, I think, she is really pleasant teacher. Ms. Z always starts the class with fun activities. I do not know what the name of the activities. But, it is really enjoyable.
- Researcher : Do you think it is like a warming up?
- Participant E : Yeah, it is called warming up. For example, she plays music almost in every meeting. It is done before we start our lesson. Sometimes, she has us dance and follow the movements given by her. I like it so much.
- Participant B : Yeah, I totally agree with you. I like that kind of warming up as well.
- Researcher : Is there any other experience with Ms. Z?
- Participant D : Hmm, for a moment. I am confused how to answer it Ms.
- Researcher : It is okay, just share your experience which you remember with her. Good or bad

- experiences will be okay for me.
- Participant C : Excuse me Ms. Can I share another experience with her? But, it is not about game. Is it okay Ms?
- Researcher : Sure, you can. What is it?
- Participant C : It is about how she drills us with new words every morning.
- Researcher : Drilling every morning? It sounds good. Can you explain me more about it?
- Participant C : Sure, I can. What I like from her is she always drills us before starting the lesson by giving new vocabularies related to the theme at that day. She teaches how to pronounce new words. She also gives example how to pronounce it well, then has the students pronounce some words after her.
- Researcher : Related to theme at that day? What do you mean?
- Participant C : For example, our theme for this week is school facilities. So, she gives us some words which are related to the theme which is school facilities. She gives us plenty of new vocabularies that we cannot find it in our book. It is really new vocabularies for us.
- Researcher : Oh I see. What about Mr. A? Has he ever given that kind of drill just like Ms. A does?
- Participant E : Never. He has never done it because he likes teaching based on the book.
- Participant B : Yeah, it is really boring.
- Participant D : Yup, Mr. A uses book to teach almost in every meeting.
- Researcher : Sorry, but I do not get it. Can you tell me more about it?
- Participant D : Sure. He never conducts activities other than the lesson which is on the textbook. For example, "Could you please open the book page blabla?" It is the way he teaches in the - classroom.

- Researcher : What about others?
- Participant F : I will give you another example Ms. For instance, he said “Could you please open the book page blabla? And it will be your homework from this meeting”
- Researcher : Does it mean that Mr. A never conduct game in delivering lesson?
- Participant F : Never Ms. He only uses text book in every meeting and it is really boring for me.
- Researcher : Okay, let’s talk about another topic. Let’s talk about grammar. Do you have any experiences while being taught by Mr. A in teaching grammar?
- Participant D : Sure I have. You know, his grammar would be wrong. Sometimes, I don’t understand what he means. I have to think about two minutes. Then, I will understand what he means.
- Researcher : Sorry, I don’t get it. Do you mean that when he speaks, he does not use proper grammar?
- Participant D : What do you mean Ms? Does it mean that he is wrong in speaking?
- Researcher : Yeah, it is what I mean.
- Participant D : Sure. His grammar is sometimes wrong. It makes me confused whether I have to follow his or Mr. Z. I think Mr. Z always uses proper grammar because he comes from Singapore, and I do believe him about the use of grammar.
- Class Teacher : Ms. Devi sorry for bothering. I think, time is over. We can continue the discussion next time because after this the class will be started.
- Researcher : Oh I see. Sorry for taking so long time and bothering your class. Okay friend, let’s finish our discussion today. I’m happy to be here to have discussion with you. You all are awesome. See you next time friends.
